Rules and Regulations

Lloyd's Register's Rules and Regulations set appropriate standards for the design, construction and lifetime maintenance of ships, offshore units and land-based installations - providing all the information you need for classification purposes. To keep pace with changes in technology, market trends and new legislation, Lloyd's Register is dedicated to an on-going programme of research and development to enhance existing technical standards and publish new Rules.

How do I access the Rules?

The best way to access all LR's Rules in a single place is directly through Rulefinder. Or you can download the individual Rules below.

If you're using a mac, Linux, smart phone or tablet you will need to download a .chm viewer to open the files below. These are readily available from apple and android app stores.
